Gita Surie

Biography
Gita Surie is Associate Professor of Management at Adelphi University. Her research interests include technological innovation, knowledge transfer and organizational evolution, globalization, entrepreneurship, emerging economies, and leadership.

Research
Business policy and strategic management of knowledge intensive and multinational firms, globalization strategies of developing economy firms, management of technological innovation, new organizational forms, innovation systems and economic development, leadership and ethics.

Selected Publications

